

73%
of Australians do not support tighter firearms controls.

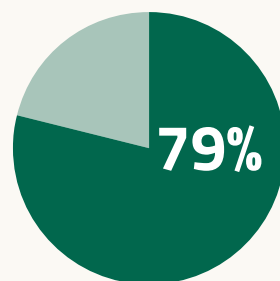

85%
of Australians see no need to increase firearms regulations.

76%
support a national firearms amnesty.

66%
support digital recordkeeping upgrades for firearms registries.

79%
support increasing resources to stop illegal firearms imports, trafficking, manufacture and possession.

The rise of social, environmental and animal activism is disliked by Australians. Overwhelmingly, people expect that Federal and State governments stand up to the demands of activists and protect individual rights and freedoms.

> net favourability of activists > politicians should stand up for the freedoms of everyday people > politicians should resist political correctness pushed by social activists > do not want gun control activism to further influence policy

Sexton, M (2019) Public attitudes to firearms related matters in Australia – Report of key findings SMR Global PTY LTD. [Survey sample representative of Australian Adult Demographic.]